

MAN DIES AT STEERING WHEEL OF AUTOMOBILE

Was Returning From Church—Man Stops Auto, Falls Dead—Wife On Rear Seat Dies From Shock

Hickman, Ky., Dec. 3.—Returning home in his automobile from the Christian church here at 4 o'clock this afternoon where he had been to get his family, S. N. Sweeney, 55 years old, rural mail carrier, stopped his car in the middle of the street and fell dead across the steering wheel. His wife, Mrs. Eddy Sweeney, 48, died fifteen minutes later from the shock. Miss Bernice Warren, 13 years old, a niece of Mrs. Sweeney in the car at the time, is in a serious condition from fright and excitement.

The fatal coincidence occurred within fifty yards of the Sweeney home on the edge of town.

Mr. Sweeney was apparently in the best of health. A few minutes before going to the church he had been joking with some friends in the business section of town.

On his way there, however, his car skidded into a ditch and it is said he worked hard for several minutes to free it from the mire. It is thought this may have weakened his heart. At the church, however, he seemed in the best of spirits.

When Mrs. Sweeney saw that her husband was dead, she and the little girl jumped from the rear seat of the car screaming for help. Neighbors arrived in a few minutes. Mrs. Sweeney told them she was dying and named a physician to be called.

She was placed on the rear seat of the car. As the doctor arrived she raised straight up, wavered, and without a word fell dead across the front seat on which the body of her husband lay.

Mr. John Strode spent Sunday in Lexington with his father, Mr. W. Hall Strode.

FORMER MAYSVILLE BOY INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

Russell Porter Injured in Wreck in Which His Associate was Killed.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 4. — Russell Porter, son of the Rev. John W. Porter, former pastor of the First Baptist church of Lexington, was injured in an automobile accident Saturday morning near Simpsonville in which a companion was killed and three others were injured.

The party was on its way to Lexington when the accident occurred. A danger signal placed in the middle of the road failed to show which side of the pike was open for travel and when the machine attempted to pass, a rear wheel broke, overturning the car. John C. Hood, Jr., 24 years old, sustained a broken neck and died soon afterwards.

The remainder of the party suffered cuts and bruises. They are Robert Welch, 21; Jack Chandler, 18; Frank Farnham, 25, driver and owner of the car, and young Porter.

Russell Porter has many friends in Maysville, having lived here when his father was pastor of the local Baptist church. He visits here frequently.

JEFFERSON'S ADVICE URGED BY TIBERT FOR EDUCATION WEEK

National Commissioner of Education Opening "Education Week" Urges Crusade Against Ignorance.

An admonition by Thomas Jefferson to "preach a crusade against ignorance" is invoked by Commissioner Tibert of the Bureau of Education in a message to the American people at the beginning of American Education Week.

With five million illiterate adults and six million children not in school, the Commissioner said, the nation has even more need than in the days of the sage of Monticello to set its face toward a policy to enable all the people to "grow in power and knowledge, in human understanding and tolerance, as the primary condition of national progress."

Education Week, set aside by President Harding in a recent proclamation as a time for "inspirational" reflection on the education need of great and small communities, was described by Mr. Tibert as an occasion on which the plain facts about illiteracy and educational neglect should be told far and wide.

"One hundred and thirty years ago," said the message, "Thomas Jefferson wrote: 'preach a crusade against ignorance; establish and improve the law for educating the common people.'"

"American education week is the time for telling the facts about American education. And some of the fundamental facts that need to be emphasized are first, that 'all the people' are not being educated. On the contrary, over six million children between the ages of five and eighteen, one-fourth of all in the country are not in any school. Secondly, about five million adults, or one-sixth of the total population are, according to the census illiterate, while the draft indicates that this figure should be even larger.

Thirdly, public schools are being closed for the lack of teachers and lack of funds for carrying them on.

"Let our countrymen know," said Jefferson, "that the tax which will be paid for this purpose (education) is not more than a thousandth part of what will be paid if we leave the people in ignorance."

"What is needed is funds and yet more funds for the education of all the people. If we believe in education we must be willing to support it."

AUTO RIDING WILL BE MORE EXPENSIVE

There Are Now Two Taxes On Each Machine and All Licenses Must Be Taken Out By January 1st.

A large number of auto riders will be compelled to confine their movements strictly to business instead of so much joy riding as heretofore. County Clerk A. M. January began Monday issuing licenses for next year and those taking out licenses will pay as follows:

For each horsepower the charges will be 25 cents;

And for each hundred weight there will be a charge of 40 cents.

This is a raise over last year, as the licenses then were issued on a 60-cent-per-horsepower basis only.

REDEMPTION OF WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

At the request of the United States Government, the Bank of Maysville will redeem for cash, at their face value, all un-registered War Savings Stamps of the Series of 1918 which mature January 1, 1923. This bank is offering its facilities to accommodate the hundreds of patriotic citizens of this community who purchased these stamps during the war. Owners of these stamps are urged to bring them to us at once in order to avoid congestion around January 1st. CLAIRVOYANT MOSSE
HERE TUESDAYS ONLY

Hours for Consultation Changed to Include Evening Until 8 O'clock.

The Clairvoyant's ambition is to help you.

In your grandfather's time he told your fortune.

Many people still live in grandfather's time.

But the intelligent medium of today will not waste his time on them.

That's why Sir Oliver Lodge, Conan Doyle, Sir William Brooks, Professor Munsterberg, Prof. James, Prof. Hudson and many eminent scientists believe in mediums.

Today the medium uses his powers and experience to further the interests of his clients. He advises them and he helps them by the intelligent use of his psychic knowledge and gifts. Many seemingly impossible desires are sometimes easily attained through his help.

Not all people believe in Clairvoyants.

As a child I was taught that heaven was a city with golden streets! Hell was a lake of fire. There was only one true religion, only one true church. All others were of Satan. Our church our creed, led to the golden city; all others to the lake.

For some people, all beliefs conflicting with their own, lead to the lake.

Others have an ax to grind and do not want you to believe in them.

The fact that you have been helped does not count with them.

THE DIFFERENCE

The ancient fortune teller would predict poverty.

The Psychic of today shows you your chance of wealth. He is constructive.

"You will be unhappy in love affairs," was the prediction of former days.

You can realize your fondest hopes if you follow my suggestions, is what you are apt to be told by the intelligent medium of this day.

NOTHING IMPOSSIBLE.

Your greatest wish may be realized, your fondest hopes come true, your life made happier, your troubles settled by consulting with a really capable and talented Psychic advice.

There is always a way and if you are honestly anxious to be helped, then

YOU CAN BE HELPED

Mr. Mosse makes no claim of infallibility. He is not a wizard. He is an unusually gifted psychic, whose education, experience and intelligent interest combined with world wide travels and contact with all sorts of people and conditions, make him one of the foremost and most successful men in his profession. He is in this city by special arrangements with people interested in this work.

Mr. Mosse is in Maysville every Tuesday and Wednesday. Hours 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Consultations $1. Office at 211 BRIDGE STREET near L & N. station.

COMMENT

Some things that transpire in our local courts may be amusing to some people but they are disgusting to others.

There's one thing certain: The several small wrecks on the C. & O. at this place recently cannot be blamed either on the strike or the faulty workmanship of novices.

Have you ever noticed that the Missus is just as proud of a new pan in which to cook as she is of a new dress? If she isn't proud of her new working tools, there's something wrong.

The Washington theater is extensively advertising a picture whose title asks a question that no mere man has nerve enough to attempt to answer even if he has an opinion on the matter in the back of his head. The picture is, "What's Wrong With the Women?"

Remember the day when the season for the meeting of the grand jury was vacation season for some of our citizens?

We understand that the mind reader who visits Maysville has been telling some of our folks the truth about themselves. Persons more in love with themselves than any one else should not tiff at the truth when they seek information on love affairs.

The Maysville High School basketball team have made a bad start of the season by losing both games. We are started now though and what we are now interested in is not the start but the effort to play the game in such a way that we will not make a bad finish.

That Dayton, Ky., youth who after his leg had been severed from his body, hopped to his home with his torn limb displayed greater courage than it takes to face an enemy's army on a battlefield. To be courageous single-handed is real courage.

Our Daily Poem

"THAT'S MY HOME!"

When "That's my home!" a man can say,

It means much more

Than statement of a title, detail small

Apportioning possession of a house and lot, the lay

Of land, the record name it bore

As owner; for it means that man has built a wall

To stand against the storm and tide

Of shiftless, disaster; he is anchored sure;

He can be found upon occasion; he has pride

In his own work, in his own town;

secure

He is in loyalty, because of that one spot he owns,

To just the neighborhood about and to the state;

The nation's strength is set into the stones

Supporting firm that cottage small or mansion great;

Because this man can say and can appreciate,

"That is my home!" he comes to be

A citizen in deed and truth, a patriot responsible and free!

What's Wrong With The Women?

You're going to see one of the finest motion pictures ever made when you see "WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE WOMEN." Aside from its richness of production, aside from its wonderful cast which has never been equalled in any picture (see names below) you're going to see a picture that will hold you spellbound and that will give you an evening of the finest entertainment you ever enjoyed when you see Daniel Carson Goodman's amazing production, "WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE WOMEN?"

Included in the cast are such brilliant stars as Wilton Lackaye, Mrs. De Wolf Hopper, Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, Constance Bennett, Montague Love, Julia Swayne Gordon, Barbara Castleton, Rod La Rocque, Paul McAlister, Huntley Gordon and that remarkable child actress Little Helen Rowland. We recommend this picture to you as one of the finest you will see this season.

Where can we find it—this bluebird of happiness, ever so elusive and always so hard to hold once we do clasp it tightly to our breasts. Jack Lee felt it was his for all time. In his little city home there was a wife to face the world with him, and with him to battle through to Success. There was a child who meant everything. And there was a home to keep—a prize well worth the struggle.

Almost before he knew it the change came. His wife was different; there was deception in her manner and in her vague excuses. She had become a bosom companion of an unscrupulous lous woman who lived across the hall. Mrs. Neer, she called herself, and she preached independence and freedom to the young wife. She brought a young millionaire into Mrs. Lee's life, and with him came midnight suppers, afternoon teas, and an extravagance that made Jack's existence a constant worry. The bluebird that he had captured was lost.

Jack was employed by James Bascom, a wealthy architect. Bascom also had puzzled about the modern woman. His daughter Elise was the modern girl. Cigarettes, flasks, rouge, all night parties, and a love of luxury seemed to be her main purpose in life. The only other purpose was marriage—to enough money. She had chosen James Beldon, the same millionaire whose attentions to Mrs. Lee were now becoming insistent; spurning the love of a man who offered only a simple home and a pure heart.

Meanwhile Mrs. Lee, surrounded by a band of parasites, blinded by the false glare of their hectic social gatherings; intoxicated by their extravagances and luxurious tastes, came near to ruining her husband. And Jack, asking for more money to keep pace with his wife's demands, finds himself jobless and almost penniless.

Only when death threatens their little child does the mother instinct and wife instinct rise in Mrs. Lee. She is awakened as if by a dazzling light to see her folly. The silly puppets who she thought were offering her life had instead taken from her love and in its place left an emptiness that tore her very heart.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — Nowhere, except in this city of do-as-you-please, could a perfectly dignified business man leave his home each morning and walk to the subway, eating a large slice of toast and jam as he walks? That is what V. M. McAlister, of 503 W. 175th street, does every morning and nobody minds, not even his wife, much less the public he meets on the way.

It is entirely possible for young people to be engaged and break their engagements nowadays with complete and sustained friendliness on both sides. Miss Enid Wentworth, a stenographer in a downtown house, perhaps has a record for this, but there may be a good many other instances almost as convincing, if we only knew them. Miss Wentworth is to be married shortly to one of her employers. She has been in the office for ten years, although she is now only 26, and during that time, she has been engaged at one time or another to every male employee on the staff—thirty in all. They are all to be at the church to wish her goodwill, and the thirty returned engagement rings have been set in a clock which the firm is presenting to her as a reminder of how much they all think of her.

It remained for Brock Pemberton to go to the Italian for the most advanced piece of stage writing yet brought to the stage this season, or any other.

for that matter. "Six Characters in Search of an Author" is written by Pirandello, but is undoubtedly of more value to our own dramatists than any manual of play making or work shop or any other so-called stimulus known in the craft. It deals with the subjective and objective characterization of play puppets in so incisive a manner as to shame ninety-nine per cent. of the population of the world in its effort to explain life through the medium of plays. Mr. Pemberton has assembled a cast which is almost uncanny in its fidelity and sympathy with the aims of the author. It includes Moffat Johnson, known for his work with the Guild, Margaret Wyckherly, who has an intelligence only exceeded by her histrionic skill, Florence Eldridge, a chit of a girl, so good that you feel uncomfortable about it, and S. M. Cossart, who does so well showing what the stage should not do that you forgive its old mistakes. Ave, Brock Pemberton!

Romeyn Park Benjamin, brother of Mrs. Enrico Caruso, and one of the group of Benjamin children cut off with $1 each by their father's will, is to go on the stage. Because of family disagreements which sprang from the father's disapproval of the marriage of his daughter Dorothy to Caruso, the Benjamin children have been left to their own resources for several years in spite of the family fortune. Up to the time of his death, Caruso had urged young Benjamin to adopt the professional stage as a career.

Seventy-six per cent. of the crimes committed here last year were the work of boys under twenty-one years of age. The Children's Aid Society spent $64,000 on special work among older boys during the year in an effort to spread the juvenile crime, and is building a big boys' club this year as a part of the same effort.

One of the interesting and valuable documents bought at a sale in a local art gallery the other day was "The Mormon Constitution" with the journal of the convention which formed it and the proceedings of the Utah Legislature following its adoption. The work was published in 1849 in what was then Kanawha, afterwards Council Bluffs. The document brought $1,000 at auction.

TREATING BREEDING EWES CUTS DOWN WORM TROUBLE.

Lexington, Ky. — Stomach worms, present in almost every flock of sheep in Kentucky, annually cause a heavy loss to farmers and breeders of the state, according to L. J. Horlacher, in charge of sheep work at the College of Agriculture. Farmers can take a big step at this time of the year to wipe out this trouble by treating their pregnant ewes with copper sulphate. If ewes are free of worms before the lambing season comes the chances of the lambs getting worms are considerably lessened.

A solution made of copper sulphate, commonly known as bluestone, is the best one to use in treating the ewes. The solution is made by dissolving one-fourth of a pound of powdered copper sulphate in a part of boiling water and then diluting this to three gallons. This amount is enough to dose 100 ewes.

In treating ewes, they should be kept off feed the night before and then drenched the following morning after which they should be kept up for from six to eight hours longer. The dose for each ewe is about three and a half ounces or seven tablespoonsful. In case the ewes are in a badly rundown condition, they should be given a drench of opesom salts about 24 hours after the copper sulphate treatment. One-fourth of a pound of the salts dissolved in water is enough for each ewe.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit To Every Maysville Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorser who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice told and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? Its from a Maysville resident:

Mrs. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, says: "My back became weak and lame and ached across my kidneys. My kidneys acted irregularly and I was dizzy and had headaches. I used Doan's Kidney Pills bought at Wood & Son's Drug Store and they relieved me of the attack." (Statement given November 16th, 1914.)

On November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday added: "My kidneys have given me no trouble at all since using Doan's Kidney Pills. I gladly renew my former statement."
